❧ INTRODUCTION. ❧

IT was intended that this Catalogue should be arranged by classes as indicated in the Prospectus issued last May, but so few of the exhibitors have complied with the request of the Manager to make separate applications for space and return separate lists of entries in each class, that it is impossible at this late day to carry out the plan proposed, and therefore the exhibits are grouped only under the heads of the several departments, in which the names of the exhibitors are arranged alphabetically.

Announcement was made in the Prospectus, through the press, and by circulars addressed to business men, that applications for space could be made from June 1st to July 15th, and that space would be assigned to accepted applicants as early as practicable after the applications had been received; but many exhibitors delayed making applications until several weeks after the expiration of the allotted time. In all cases where it was possible space has been assigned to the dilatory applicants, and in some instances it has been necessary to place them in other departments than those to which their exhibits properly belonged.

Every exhibitor has been furnished with blanks upon which to make out lists of the articles proposed to be exhibited, and those who have not promptly responded have repeatedly been requested to fill up and return these blanks to the Manager's office; but several have failed to comply with these requests, and their exhibits are therefore necessarily omitted from the Catalogue. But, notwithstanding the obstacles and delays encountered, it is believed that the Catalogue is reasonably complete for the first year, and it is hoped that on another year a greater degree of promptness will be manifested by exhibitors, rendering it possible to prepare a much more complete and satisfactory list.

EDW. W. HINCKS,
Manager.

PRINTING BINDING RULING

The Proprietors of the Evening Wisconsin Job Printing House have made, and are now making, additions to their machinery, and have renewed ALL THEIR BOOK AND DISPLAY TYPE, so that their establishment has, not only the largest equipment in the State, but the freshest and most approved in style. They have added especially large fonts of every size and face of Book Type, and particularly solicit estimates for large orders of Book Printing. We employ no canvassers for work, but send estimates promptly by mail; or the Manager will call in person upon any city consumer if the work is sufficient to warrant. We guaranty count, weight, quality and accuracy. Everything connected with this Department is exactly as represented, or no sale. We do all work upon business principles, and always estimate for a UNIFORM AND LOW PROFIT. This we can afford to do, as our purchases of stock are of the largest amounts, and our work is done with all the best machinery and by the most economical methods.

We execute the printing for most of the great corporations, manufacturers and merchants in the State, and also execute large orders for houses in Chicago and other cities. The presses in this establishment made over 20,000,000 of impressions in 1880, and with our increased press facilities we can make 30,000,000 impressions in 1881. This is said not by way of boast, but for the purpose of illustrating the magnitude of our facilities. No Printing House in the country has better.

DEPARTMENT M.

Natural History, Etc.

The finishing of that portion of the building which was originally designed to be used for Natural History collections has been so much delayed that it has not been possible to complete the details of this department in time to receive and arrange any considerable collection of exhibits for the present exhibition, although a number have been kindly offered. The room will, however, be utilized for other exhibits of a most attractive character, more than fully compensating for the absence of Natural History collections, for which it is expected ample amends will be made on another year, when there will be sufficient time to collect and arrange the materials within our reach.

ANAQUARINE.

Patented June 17, 1879.

Anaquarine Cement is an insoluble substance used as paint, putty, and for cementing purposes. It is indispensable for Breweries, Distilleries, Soda Water Factories, for Gas and Steam Fitters, Tanners, Painters; is serviceable in private houses; in mending malt house floors, lining tanks, ice houses, boxes and refrigerators. All leaks are permanently stopped by it. In all places where paint fails it works successfully. It has no equal on brick work for first coating. For painting and cementing, dry or wet, it is used where other cements fail. It serves as a ground for frescoing. It preserves the wood of boats and vessels from decay. When used for proper purposes and in the right manner, it is unsurpassed in the above uses. Send for circular.

The Wandering Jew.....	$3,000 00	Carl Marr, Milwaukee	288

Carl Marr, born in Milwaukee, displayed artistic taste at an early age, went to Europe in 1875. During an absence of five years, he studied diligently in Weimar, Berlin and Munich, making many sketching tours in various parts of Germany and Italy. His first large picture, "The Wandering Jew," he completed just before returning to America.

According to the current legend the Wandering Jew is Ashasuerus, the shoemaker at Jerusalem, who, when the Saviour wished to rest before his house on his way to Golgotha, drove him away, and as a punishment for his sin is condemned to wander over the face of the earth till Christ shall pronounce his doom at the last day. The figure of Ashasuerus is placed under the shadow of a rock by the sea shore, whither his wanderings have brought him. The twilight hour approaching, a single star gleams over the restless sea. The drowned body of a beautiful girl has been washed upon the shore, with the stranded weeds and rifted sands, at his feet. The expression and power of the figure tell the story—seeking death, and for himself finding it not, but finding it in innocent youth.

"The difficulties of an original conception of a subject so often poetically and pictorially treated have been successfully met, and the power of this picture must be admitted and admired. There are few painters of to-day who have the requisite courage, talent and skill to conduct successfully such an admirable performance, which with the excellent technical quality it displays entitles it to rank high as a work of art. This picture is admirably suited to exhibition in a public gallery, and Mr. Marr has refused application from remunerative sources, that this work may be exhibited at the first Milwaukee Industrial Exposition."

Thou Ring Upon My Finger—Suggested to the artist by the little poem of the German Poet Chamisso.	$1,000 00	Carl Marr, Milwaukee	289
--	------------------	----------------------------	-----

This last work of Mr. Marr's has just been completed for this exhibition, the subject of which was suggested to the artist by the following exquisite little verses of the German poet Chamisso:

Thou ring upon my finger,
My little ring of gold,
Devout I press thee to my lips,
Devoutly to my bosom hold.
Came a vision in my sleep,
A childish tranquil dream:
Lost and alone I stood
Where boundless deserts gleam;
Thou ring upon my finger,
Thou bad'st me first to dwell
With eyes unlocked upon
Life's worth ineffable.
Him shall I ever love and serve,
Resign to him all right,
And as I yield myself
Grow brighter in his sight.

The observer is at once struck with the delicacy of the tone of this picture. It is, indeed, a "symphony" in white. The garland of red roses twined about the young girl's head is the only departure from the pearly tints throughout the picture. The white azaleas, relieved against the white marble base of a column, play their part in the scheme of chiaroscuro and color, while the tender sentiment of the picture is felt at a glance. The artist has bestowed much pains and thought on its execution, and the result is in a high degree pleasing. This picture is for sale.
