Foreword and Dedication

¶ This book is dedicated to the many fine educators in the State of Wisconsin who are devoting their life to the education of our young men and women. - - - - -

¶ The object of this book is to historically record and perpetuate the activities of those so engaged in Wisconsin. - - - - -

¶ It is regretted that more fine educators prominently associated with schools in the State did not co-operate in helping to make this volume bigger and better by contributing their photographs and biographies, but we hope that none worthy of mention have been overlooked in our solicitation for we conscientiously expended much time and effort in seeking material for this work. - -

¶ May this book be of genuine service as a directory, history and book of interest and to the large number who have so generously co-operated with us in making this work possible, we express our sincere thanks.
