Secretary's Report.

Ladies of the Milwaukee Mission Kindergarten Association.

Your Executive Board beg to present to you their report for the year ending July 14th, 1892.

During the year which closes to-day regular meetings, at which full reports of all departments of work have been presented, have been held in Plymouth Church parlor on the first Thursday of each month.

From July, 1889, to July, 1891, the prominent question at every meeting was "How shall we get money with which to do our work?" This problem has this year been solved by a thorough canvass of the whole city, from house to house, by Mrs. S. M. Breese, and by the Kermess given in December, 1891, under the direction of Miss Carrier, of Oswego, New York.

Mrs. Breese has been very successful in her work, having obtained for the Association more than $2,400, $1,386.17 of it being given in sums less than one dollar. The greater part of this money never would have reached us except through a special agent, for many persons visited by Mrs. Breese had never heard of a Mission Kindergarten, much less of a cooking-class or a day-nursery. We desire to acknowledge Mrs. Breese's faithful and efficient service, and to ask for her in the future a courteous reception, and a generous response from the charitable public.

Everybody knows about the Kermess and how belles and beaux, of all sorts and conditions, smiled and danced into your depleted treasury more than eleven hundred dollars. We bear in continual remembrance all those who helped to make the Kermess a success, thanking them for their willing assistance, their good-humored acceptance of many annoyances, and their cheerful expenditure of money, time and strength. We fully appreciate the personal effort and self-sacrifice which enable your Treasurer to-day to report a fair balance on the credit side of her books, and the snug sum of one thousand dollars bearing interest, ready to be invested early in the school year in a long-hoped for new Kindergarten. There is also in bank a sum of $205 collected by Miss M. R. Campbell for a new West Side Kindergarten, which we hope may be opened in the coming autumn.

Five Kindergartens submit their reports to you to-day. Two of them, that on Galena Street and that on Thirteenth Avenue, are entirely supported by the Association from its general fund.

The Wheelock Kindergarten, on North Water Street, is partly provided for from the general fund, partly by a yearly gift from the "Wheelock Girls," and partly by gifts from the Sunday School and the Willing Workers of Immanuel Church.

The Gilbert Kindergarten, on Clinton Street, is maintained, as a memorial of his mother, by Mr. J. T. Gilbert, who pays the requisite amount into the Association's treasury, to be disbursed in any way deemed necessary or advisable.

The Laura Catlin Kindergarten, on Broadway, is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catlin, who for many years have been actively engaged in charitable work in the Third Ward, and assumed the care of this Kindergarten when Mrs. Mitchell abandoned it. Funds expended for this school do not pass through your treasury, Mr. Catlin preferring to pay the bills himself.

For statistics and details of these Kindergartens we refer you to the accompanying reports of the Superintendent and Directors.

During the school year the Day Nursery daily has opened its sheltering arms to the young children of laboring women, and has proved a constant source of happiness to the babies, and of relief to their care-worn mothers.

We beg leave particularly to present to your notice the industrial departments of the Association's work, the cooking, house-keeping, and sewing classes. The pupils in these classes, who, of course, are older than those in the Kindergartens, have done admirable work during the past year. Very often the school lesson is repeated at home, and great are the girls' delight and their parents' pride when some appetizing cooking class dish is successfully served at the family dinner. One prospective bride of seventeen years of age, asked for a rule for frosting, saying she meant to prepare all the food used at her wedding supper, and wanted to try the recipes in advance, to be sure she could "do them just right." Was not that wedding feast probably an improvement on one ordered from a Third Ward pastry shop or beer saloon? May not these industrial classes in mission schools suggest a possible solution of the perplexing domestic service question? We wish these classes could be multiplied. We see need of enlarged effort in every direction. Attics and alleys cry out for instruction and shelter in class and Kindergarten and Nursery. Shall the cry go unheeded and unanswered for lack of money?

The Normal class has continued successfully to train young women wishing to devote their time, talent, and energy to city, missionary work. This training constitutes a very important branch of your work, because the Normal pupils serve as assistants in the Kindergartens while under instruction, and from their ranks must come the brain and muscle of your future working force.

The supervision of all these departments of instruction and labor has been entrusted to Mrs. M. I. Carpenter, who has been your Superintendent since the organization of your work, whose long experience in mission work has given her tact and practical wisdom, and whose efficiency and contagious zeal are quite too well known to need comment.

There is nothing we more desire than that our friends, especially those regularly contributing to our support, should really know what the Kindergarten Association is. We cordially invite them all to attend the regular monthly meetings, notice of which is always given in the daily papers; to examine the methods, and weigh the results of work; and, more than all, to visit the Nursery, Kindergartens, and industrial classes, in order to understand that a Kindergarten is more than a play-room where children, too young to learn anything, are amused with red, blue and yellow balls, or kept quiet with meaningless figures cut out of purple, orange and green papers. An enthusiast once laughingly defined a Kindergarten as "Heaven begun below." Doubtless she was a trifle extravagant. Is it not, however, quite true that nothing has yet been found as potent as the mission kindergarten and its adjuncts to make very poor, neglected children better as well as happier?

There remains now only the pleasant task of offering our sincere thanks to Mr. J. T. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Catlin and the "Wheelock Girls;" to various city churches and societies for frequent, kind remembrances; to the press for advertising and countless notices; to sundry printing houses for programmes and repeated favors; to everyone—and their name is legion—who in any way helped on the Kermess; to the city railway for free transportation; to the authorities at the National Home and the proprietor at White Fish Bay for picnic grounds; to all contributors of money, fuel, furniture, or material for work; to all donors of clothing, toys, Christmas gifts, or provisions for luncheons at picnics and festivals; to donors to the graduating exercises of the Normal class; to all unknown friends who have given us tender words or helpful deeds; to all who think of us kindly, and bid us God-speed.

Verily, they shall in no wise lose their reward.

Respectfully submitted,

ELLEN B. CAMPBELL, Secretary.

MILWAUKEE, July 14, 1892.

Report of the Superintendent, July 14th, 1892.

LADIES: To-day the hands pause on the dial of time to mark the close of a busy and prosperous year in our work.

The Milwaukee Mission Kindergarten Association. Under this name a faithful band of Christian women, all of whom were leading philanthropists in our city, met in Plymouth Church, in the autumn of 1884, with one thought and purpose in mind—that of ministering to the needs of the poor, destitute and neglected children in our midst. This being the object of the beneficent work of the Association, it was begun in a small way, but with earnestness of purpose and faith on the part of those new in the work. Reports from month to month gave a detailed account of how the tiny spark, engendered of hope, flickered and waned in its struggle for existence. Suffice it to relate that these noble women, at the completion of their first year's work, said: "The little that has been accomplished shall not die. We are willing to continue our efforts for its existence." So the spark enkindled to a flame of mingled faith and hope, which gave place to energy and power, whose active agencies have stamped our feeble endeavor with success, and whose radiations have illumined the way, step by step, successively, from its beginning in 1884, to the close of the present year, 1892.

Why does the Kindergarten Association exist? Because past experience encourages future continuance of the work. It is not only the children of vice and crime that we receive and shelter. The children of the deserving and industrious poor are, also, often among us. There is nothing automatic in the administration or distribution of its charity. Persons who have been pronounced unworthy of time, attention or help, have been encouraged, strengthened, and reclaimed through its agency. Love, with its accessory, wisdom, are kindred in aim and accomplishment for good. With this thought in mind, the kindergartner meets the daily emergencies that arise in her work, which can be reached effectively only by the warm heart and watchful care over her flock, enabled by the bond of active human sympathy and confidence which has won for her personal contact, influence and victory in this her special field of work. Does it cease to be a wonder that she can and does work legitimately and deservedly, side by side and hand in hand with all other local charities? Certainly not, because she will never fail to hold in the children's hearts the first place as their friend and guide in the fashioning or character building of their lives. Carlyle says, "A loving heart is the beginning of all knowledge." Out of this thought of love, all good in the manifold missions, local and foreign, springs the germ which gives promise of perennial bloom.

Our work has been fostered by love, encouraged by hope, strengthened by faith. The way has been cleared. Light has sprung from darkness, and shadows have given place to substance. So it becomes apparent to all why our work exists, grows and pleads for supports in its present condition, and yearns to meet the opportunities which beckon to new fields of labor equally as needy and deserving as any that have yet been entered upon.

This work appeals for its support to the Christian sympathy and active benevolence of churches, societies, individuals, and no less to young children, whereby we may foster in their minds and hearts a spirit of sympathy not merely to help those who are in need of aid, but a recognition that charity is two-fold, and dispenses a blessing to those who are doing the work as well as to those who are aided.

Who can calculate the value of this year's work, either from a Christian or a financial standpoint? Either calculation would render further appeal unnecessary, and future maintenance assured.

From the President and active workers of the Association spring the source of good for all. We naturally look up for inspiration to their combined power. Much is due them for untiring zeal and indomitable faith which they represent, and, as the lesser is lost in the greater, so we are content to add luster to their indefatigable struggle for the good of humanity.

"For we must share if we would keep,
That blessing from above;
Ceasing to give we cease to have,
Such is the law of love."

Superintendent.

Report of the Scott Street and Thirteenth Avenue Kindergarten.

The Scott Street Kindergarten was organized September 8, 1891, with an attendance of ten children. This number gradually increased until sixty-six names were on our rolls.

The location on Scott Street did not prove to be altogether suitable for our work, and on January 4th, 1891, we removed to No. 404 Thirteenth Avenue, where the work was continued to the end of the school year in June. Only thirteen of the pupils from Scott Street came with us to our new rooms, but our numbers steadily grew to fifty-five. The entire enrollment at both Kindergartens was one hundred and twenty-one. In the Thirteenth Avenue school the pupils come from more comfortable homes than those near Scott Street, and the parents, who are most of them German Lutherans or Americans, are frugal and industrious. The usual epidemics incident to childhood prevailed at different times, but the children came safely through them all, only one of our pupils having died during the year. Very few persons have been actively interested in this field of work, but these few have labored not only for but with us. With their assistance eight children of very poor parents were entirely clothed, and ten others materially aided.

At the holidays the children were given a festival, Mrs. Charles Burnham supervising the gifts, and the Young Ladies' Bible Class of Grand Avenue Congregational Church furnishing the luncheon.

At Easter time Mrs. G. B. Van Norman treated the children to a luncheon.

Report of the Galena Street Kindergarten.

The daily average of the Galena Street Kindergarten is seventy-five. The smallest number present at any one session was twenty-five, the largest one hundred and thirty.

In September we began to work with the First Gift and took the gifts and occupations in order, through the Fourth Gift. We strive to develop the little ones physically, mentally and morally alike, and, though we meet many discouragements, we also, on looking back over the year's work, find much to encourage us. The children learn the Kindergarten games and songs very readily, in spite of the fact that few of them can speak any English when they come to us. Many of them teach the games and songs to younger brothers and sisters, who are thus kept happy and out of harm's way for hours. Sometimes the mothers join in the singing. Thus our children become little missionaries in their homes, taking our bright, pure little songs along with other good influences of the Kindergarten. The mothers say that the Kindergarten fills the whole heart and soul of the children. Their first waking thought in the morning is to get ready for the Kindergarten, and when ill, they cry and beg to come to school before they are really able to go out.

Sickness is not the only cause of absence. When shoes wear out their owners often are obliged to wait a long time for new ones. Some children stay at home a day or two in the week to have their clothes washed, and others are regularly taken on certain days to friends at a distance who care for them while their mothers are from home washing or scrubbing. The women mostly support their children, the fathers seeming to earn money only for drink. One poor woman hoped for part of her husband's earnings to defray debts incurred by the illness of her little daughter, but his whole week's wages, $11.50, were spent by him in one day for liquor.

It has been a great pleasure to be able to care for poor, simple Johnnie. He has an unhappy home, but is perfectly happy with us, and it is really touching to see the big, thirteen-year-old boy delighted in stringing beads or playing with balls.

The little folks greatly enjoyed the festivals of the year. At Christmas there was a bountiful luncheon, and a tree with gifts and candy for one hundred and twenty-five children.

Easter and Froebel's birthday were celebrated at the same time. A luncheon with fruit was given by kind friends. At Easter the children made pretty cards for their parents. Made happy themselves, they did their little mite towards making others happy.

The last of our festivities was the picnic in June. How the children did enjoy it. We went to the Soldiers' Home, and the little folks had a happy time gathering wild flowers until luncheon time. The luncheon was given by the children of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grades of the Sixteenth District School No. 2.

One little incident during the year pleased me very much. Two boys were fighting in the Kindergarten. Before the teachers could reach them, a third boy, who had been very hard to manage when he first came to the Kindergarten, ran up to them, and said: "Oh, you mustn't do that! Don't you know the Golden Rule?"

Report of the Wheellock Kindergarten for the Year Ending July 14, 1892.

During the first year of this Kindergarten's existence its average attendance increased from eleven to forty. Since then it has not grown at the same rate, for our number must be limited to our accommodations, which are only enough for sixty-five children, although we have accommodated one hundred. For weeks together during the past year we have had eighty. While success in regard to numbers is gratifying, alone it would not be satisfactory. We are happy also to be able to record a great improvement in the pupils as to gentleness, obedience, kindness to each other, purity in language, truthfulness and honesty.

The parents, too, feel that we are their true friends, and many are their expressions of gratitude for our kindness to their children. I am sent for in sickness and trouble, and if the case is beyond my ability to help it is reported to the Associated Charities. When the Kindergarten was opened there were localities in the neighborhood where, if I were not afraid to go, I was certainly glad to be well out of. Now things have so improved that I never think of danger. May it not be that the refining influence of the Kindergarten has had something to do with the change?

In January, when our number was the highest it has ever been, circumstances over which we had no control decreased our attendance about one-third.

Sickness is among us constantly, and many deaths occur, caused largely, I suspect, by poor food and want of ventilation. One of our mothers has lost nine children, all under two years of age, and others aged five, six, and seven years. In summer, things are better, when the children are turned out of doors, where they enjoy themselves quite as much as other children, having no fear of spoiling their scanty wardrobes.

Festivals are an important adjunct to our work. Ours we make educational. Thanksgiving, Washington's birthday and Memorial day to foster patriotism; Christmas and Easter to develop the religious nature; Froebel's birthday to cultivate gratitude to the giver of the Kindergarten; Valentine's day to teach unselfishness and loving thought for others. The annual picnic gives the children a taste of nature, the only one some of them ever get.

The adoption of our new name, the Wheelock Kindergarten, at the beginning of the year, was a great joy to us, for it meant an especial interest in our work by a score or more of the Wheelock Girls, whose frequent visits are a constant pleasure and inspiration.

Report of the "Gilbert Kindergarten for the Year Ending July 14, 1892.

Our year has been a most satisfactory one in the general progress and interest of the Kindergarten. During the year one hundred and thirty children have enjoyed, for a time at least, the benefit and pleasure derived from attending a Kindergarten. Most of the children have been with us during the entire year, while others have remained but a few months.

Many of the pupils come from most wretched homes. In several instances both father and mother are drunkards. The unfortunate little ones linger day after day about our door, long after their schoolmates have gone home.

There has been a marked improvement in the cleanliness of these children, a growing desire to be neat. Almost every morning several hands and faces are presented to the teacher that she may admire their clean appearance. Some of our most troublesome boys and girls have been transformed into helpers and busy workers. They are slowly learning to be more orderly, to respect the rights of their playmates, and, instead of biting and slapping those who sit next to them, to work harmoniously with all, and to know that the Golden Rule must be kept as well as sung.

Parents are learning every day what the Kindergarten is doing for their children, and many of them show their appreciation by having their little ones regular in attendance. The neighbors, and even passers-by, show an interest in our work, often gathering about the windows to watch the marching and games, and to hear the songs. Several times we have prolonged the play time for the sake of these eager lookers-on.

We have been able, through the kindness of friends, to provide clothing for some of the very needy children, who have thus been able to be happy in the Kindergarten.

We have had a number of festival days during the year. Christmas is always a happy time for the children. During December they were busy preparing little presents for papa and mamma, thus learning the lesson of giving. They were delighted when they saw the tree, and their own work on it, and their eyes shone bright as Christmas stars at the sight of the dolls and boats and drums. A bountiful lunch had been provided, to which they did ample justice. Valentine's day and Washington's birthday made February a happy month; and Easter and Froebel's birthday had their appropriate celebrations.

The general plan of our work has been in line with the season. The industrial side of life has been emphasized in our songs and games. We have found that all work, farmer, blacksmith, carpenter, yes, even the birdies work, and we, too, must work. So have we tried to bring the children into close sympathy with the great work world.

The influence that goes from the Kindergarten into the children's homes can scarcely be realized, but we know it is not for to-day only, but for all time to come.

Respectfully submitted,

S. M. TRAUTWEIN,

Director.

The Gilbert Kindergarten was opened in the autumn of 1889, under the loving care of Mrs. Joseph T. Gilbert, whose beautiful hand supplied its entire support, but who did not live to see the fruits of her tender thought. When she was called to receive her reward, her son, Mr. Joseph T. Gilbert, at once assumed the responsibility of the work, and will carry it on, in continual remembrance of his mother.*

Report of the Laura Catlin Kindergarten for the Year Ending July 14, 1892.

Kindergarten!—its very name touches every fiber of the soul, and strikes every chord of the human heart as with angelic fingers. It opens in our nature the purest, deepest flow of consecrated thought and feeling.

In resuming work we repeat past experiences and realize that patience has much to do with successful training in child-life.

1st. We begin a training not only for the school but for life.

2nd. The child must be attracted and won, not by petting and indulgence, but through kindness and love.

3rd. The average mission child is seldom found in any school after the age of ten years. It is, therefore, all the more necessary that we prepare to correct the bad and vicious habits already partially formed, to induce a love of regularity and cleanliness, and to create habits of industry, as means that shall lead to a higher standard of morals. The kindergartner never loses sight of the fact that correct habits form the basis of character-building, and that "morality lurks in soap and water oftener than we think." Not only is this salutary effect visible, but also the rescue of these young children from the alleys, saloons and crowded tenements; from stealing, quarreling and other tendencies to which they are hourly exposed.

The expenses of our Kindergarten for September, 1891, were met by the Association from its general fund. In October, 1891, Mr. Charles Catlin, hearing there were no funds for the maintenance of the Third Ward Mission Kindergarten, and knowing the urgent need for a work of this kind among those people, expressed his willingness to assume its support, and honored the same by giving it his wife's name—Laura Catlin.

Mrs. Catlin is widely known throughout the ward for her untiring zeal and benevolence among the poor, and for the uplifting of the unfortunate. The children anticipate with joyous feelings her weekly visit to the Kindergarten, where she has kind and encouraging words for them, thus adding to their pleasure. We have had a number of parties for the children this year, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and Froebel's birthday being the most prominent occasions.

On leaving for Europe, Mrs. Catlin named Mrs. J. G. Flint as honorary chairman for her Kindergarten during her absence. Mrs. Flint has visited the Kindergarten weekly, and at her own expense has given a strawberry feast with cake accompaniment to the children. She has also attended to the supplies for the picnic, giving generously the bananas for the same.

During the year one hundred and ninety-three children have come under the influence of the Kindergarten, eighty-nine of whom were boys, and one hundred and four girls. We feel that a great deal of good has been accomplished in behalf of the children and their homes in the Third Ward.

Day Nursery Report, July 14, 1892.

Throughout the year the Day Nursery, according to its means and accommodations, has continued its work of caring for babes needing shelter.

This is another department of our work which commends itself to the hearts and minds of all interested in the dissemination of charity.

During the year seventy-six babies have been committed to our care. The attendance in the mornings has increased from three to thirteen, and in the afternoons, from twelve to twenty-eight. We have received four infants between the ages of nine and fourteen months, who have given but little trouble. Very happy are these toddlers as they coo and prattle in that unknown tongue which only babies understand. They are very fond of being in the nursery, and delight in one another's company, singing, marching, swinging and playing with the blocks and dolls all day long. When from over-weariness their little eyelids droop, they are tucked into snowy cribs by the loving hands of the nurse, who commends them to the care of Mother Nature. According to their annual custom, the young girls of Mrs. Titworth's Sunday School class remembered the babies at Christmas, and supplied presents and entertainment.

Report of the Third Ward Cooking Class.

The Cooking Class re-opened in September with sixteen girls in attendance. It is unusual for a girl to be either absent or tardy without good reason. When asked what success they have had with their recipes at home, they eagerly relate their own experiences, and listen to one another's account of home-work. In this way a fair review of the last lesson is obtained, and opportunity afforded for pleasant conversation with the class.

The teacher, ever mindful of the homes, the associates and the temptations of these girls, blends moral as well as manual instruction in her work. She encourages truthfulness, generosity, kindness and sympathy toward one another, thus giving glimpses of life hitherto unknown to the pupils.

The girls do not all acquire equal proficiency in their work. That is not to be expected. That they all try the recipes is evident from questions asked by them. One of them said, "My ma says anybody can be a cook. All you want is a good fire and plenty of water, and the stuff cooks itself. Nobody ever showed her how to cook!" From the untidy habits of this girl one might infer as much. She has no conception of order or rule, and whatever task is assigned her proves to be a failure through her shiftlessness.

On the evening of the 18th of December, thirty-three girls met in the Kindergarten rooms for their Christmas entertainment, and had a merry time together. Through the kindness of Mrs. Catlin and Miss Bradley, white barred-muslin aprons tied with bright ribbons hung on the Christmas tree and were given to the members of the class. Mrs. Swallow was present and greeted the girls. Mrs. Flint supplied the luncheon and oranges and Mrs. Robert Haney the candy.

Sixty-three girls, from eleven to fifteen years of age, have been trained during the year.

This is a work which commends itself to the hearts and minds of all interested in the dissemination of charity and enlightenment.

Respectfully submitted,

M. K. ROLFE,

Teacher.

Report of the Galena Street Cooking Class.

We have had twelve girls enrolled in each of the two divisions of the cooking class, and all of them have been earnest in their efforts to learn, and have made good progress through the year. Plain cooking and proper care of the kitchen are taught. As far as possible the girls try the recipes at home, and tell the result next class day. If their experiments fail we try to find out the reason of the failure. It is surprising that with such limited means most of the girls succeed so well.

The work is appreciated both by the girls themselves and by their parents. Some of our pupils get the entire family meal at home, and are proud and happy to be able to do so. Sometimes the mothers admit that their daughters can do better than they can themselves.

The Friday before Christmas the girls had a pleasant afternoon. The Mother's Club gave them a Christmas tree, with a present for each, and a liberal luncheon for all. The Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union gave five dollars to help in defraying the Christmas expenses.

Respectfully submitted,

Report of the Gilbert Cooking Class.

The cooking class has been well attended, and most of the girls have shown a real interest in their work. There were thirty-four girls under instruction most of the year. Several of the pupils were ill for a time, but returned to class as soon as they were able. There has been a better report of work done at home than in former years. The largest number of dishes prepared by any one girl was one hundred and thirty-seven.

Several of our pupils have gone into service, some of them in homes, others in hat or knitting factories.

Respectfully submitted,

Report of the Thirteenth Avenue Cooking Class.

On September 11th, 1891, the classes resumed work after the long vacation. During the year sixty-seven girls have received instructions. Too much cannot be said in praise of the work that some of these girls have done at home. In their habits of order, morals and manners great improvement has been made.

What an influence for good the little gift coming at Christmas-tide had! A thorough surprise and a bounteous luncheon provided by our friends, made our first Christmas a happy and joyous one.

During the Christmas vacation our work was removed from Scott Street to 404 Thirteenth Avenue, where we have larger, warmer and more convenient accommodations, but, unfortunately, are further from the girls' homes. This is a disadvantage, especially during the winter months, when our lessons are not over before dark.

Seventeen pupils of the twenty-nine now enrolled enjoyed the ride to and the picnic at the Soldiers' Home. It was the first experience of some in an electric car, and some of them had never before been beyond National Park. Going to the beautiful grounds of the Soldiers' Home, where they were allowed to pick wild flowers, was indeed a treat to them.

To our committee, Mrs. Van Norman, Mrs. Charles Burnham and Mrs. A. L. Worden, to Mrs. Carpenter, and to the ladies of the Association we extend our heartfelt appreciation of what has been done for us.

Report of Housekeeping Class, 1892.

The thirty-six girls forming this class are happy, industrious and grateful in their exercises. They show great interest in the lessons, and are surely forming habits that will make homes more comfortable and render service a pleasure. They have been taught the proper way of setting, waiting on and clearing the breakfast table, washing dishes, bed-making, how to assort and wash clothes, and how to wait on the door. They are encouraged to do the same work at home, if their effort is praised or appreciated in their family; a confidence in themselves and a love to do even the least thing properly is a stimulus to this result.

The little housekeepers have been very prompt in their attendance, and have acquired a proficiency in this line of work that will remain with them. One mother said: "My little girl will learn more from you than she would get from me, even if I knew how, and had the things to do with."

As soon as the girls have passed through this training they are promoted into the cooking class and continue in the practices of advanced work.

A very happy time at Christmas was experienced—the luncheon and presents being furnished by Mrs. J. G. Flint, who also meets sundry expenses incurred in this department. The Superintendent organized the Housekeeping Class six years ago, and has since volunteered her services to conduct the same. It is the first and only industrial class of its kind in the city.

Report of Pansy Sewing School.

At the monthly meeting of the Kindergarten Association, held in November, 1890, it was directed to open an experimental class at No. 679 Scott Street, with the hope that it might lead to the organization of a Mission Kindergarten. Mrs. J. G. Flint volunteered to meet the expense incurred. On Saturday, November 8, 1890, thirteen children were present, anxious to join the class. The first session was a busy one for all. I knew by the sparkling eyes and interest shown in the work that all present would be glad to come again. The second session was more promising than the first, and the classes were held semi-weekly until the end of January, 1891, when it was deemed best to organize a sewing school, to be held Saturday afternoons, and the experimental class was merged into the Pansy Sewing School.

M. ISABEL CARPENTER,

Superintendent.

The Pansy Sewing School was organized in February, 1891, and was successfully carried on, under the Supervision of Miss Clara L. Grindell, until May 17th, 1891, when it was closed for the summer. During these three months three quilts were pieced, which, after being put together and quilted by the King's Daughters, were given to the South Side Hospital. A luncheon was given the girls on the day of their last meeting.

At this time Miss Grindell severed her connection with the work.

The class was re-opened September 26th, 1891, and was carried on by Miss Price, with no assistance excepting that of two of the older girls, until December 12th, 1891, when the lack of help forced us to close our doors. Since then the girls frequently inquire about the sewing class. The work is ready. Where are the workers? Let us not stop when we have begun, but keep up these agencies for good, and ours shall be the victory by and by.

Report of Wheelock Sewing School.

This school opened on January 16th, 1892, under the direction of Mrs. Chipman, with four teachers and seventy scholars. This number gradually decreased, and on April 9th, when a party was given to the girls, there was an attendance of forty-five. The school closed on May 21st. Twenty-eight garments were begun, of which seventeen were completed and fourteen paid for by the scholars, leaving eleven still unfinished.

Report of Normal Class, July 14, 1892.

The success of the Kindergarten depends in a measure upon the Normal Class. A vital connection or relation exists between the two.

The students practice every morning, except Saturday, under the supervision of a Kindergarten Director. In this way they daily combine theory and practice in their work, and are enabled to assimilate with profit to themselves the training received in the Normal Class. The number of assistants assigned to each Kindergarten depends upon the students enrolled. This enables each Kindergarten to realize a maximum number at a minimum expense. It is self-evident that the Kindergartens and Normal classes are mutually dependent for good one upon the other.

The course of study is free, and none but earnest young women are encouraged to take up the work. Twenty-six students have entered the classes during the past year. Interesting commencement exercises were held at the Milwaukee Conservatory of Music, June 30th; 1892. First grade certificates were given to the Senior Class: Miss Adele Busjaeger, Miss May Jones, Miss Helene A. Feix, Miss Elizabeth E. Standish; and second grade certificates to Miss Cora M. Sackett, Miss May L. Torrey.

This work beckons young women to prepare for an aim in life which shall eminently fit them to mingle with the profession, and achieve the worthy ambition of home-makers, and to prepare, according to Froebel, "To take the oversight of children before they are ready for school-life; to exert an influence over their whole being in correspondence with its nature; to strengthen their bodily powers; to exercise the senses; to employ the awakening mind; to make them thoroughly acquainted with the world of nature and of man; to guide their hearts and souls in a right direction; and to lead them to God, the source of all life, and to union with Him."

Kindergartens are numerous in our city, in the public, parochial and private schools, and in the orphan asylums and charitable institutions, both Protestant and Catholic. Graduates from our Normal classes are represented in all these Kindergartens, and are among our most active and progressive Kindergartens. This spread of the work throughout this city is conclusive testimony of our progress educationally, and of the keen appreciation manifested on the part of educators, parents, and the general public for the welfare of our dear children, the outcome of which promises vast possibilities and fruitful results in the near future.

In addition to the above balance, the Association has $250.00 and a little accumulated interest, which has not been called in of Mrs. Schandeln's gift of $2,000 in 1890. There is still unpaid one month's salary of the Superintendent and of the teacher at the North Water Street Kindergarten, and expenses for materials for the month, amounting in all to $162.42, which will be paid at an early date from the receipts of a house to house canvass of the city, which is now being made by collectors engaged by the Association.

Respectfully submitted,

M. J. BURROWS,
